1,5 - The Cares of a Family Man

The Cares of a Family Man
by Franz Kafka

(translated by Willa and Edwin Muir)

Some say the word Odradek is of Slavonic origin, and try to account for it on that basis. Others again believe it to be of German origin, but only influenced by Slavonic. The uncertainty of both the interpretations allows one to assume with justice that neither is accurate, especially as neither of them provides an intelligible meaning of the word. No one, of course, would occupy himself with such studies if there were not a creature called Odradek. At first glance it looks like a flattened spool for thread, and indeed it does seem to have thread on it; certainly these are only old, broken-off bits of thread, knotted and tangled together, of the most varied sorts and colors. But it is not only a spool, for a small wooden crossbar sticks out of the middle of the star and another small rod is joined to that at a right angle. By means of this latter rod on one side and one of the star's points on the other it can stand upright as if on two legs. And also as if on two legs. One is tempted to believe that the creature once had some sort of intelligible shape and now has only a broken-down remnant. Yet this does not seem to be the case; at least there is no sign to indicate it; there are no unfinished or connecting surface to suggest anything of the kind; the whole thing looks senseless enough, but in its own way perfectly finished. Leaning over, closer scrutiny is impossible, since Odradek is extraordinarily nimble and can never be laid hold of. He lurks by turns in the garret, the stairway, the lobby, the entrance hall. Often for months on end he is not to be seen; then he has presumably moved into other houses, but he always comes faithfully back to our house again. May a time when you go out of doors and the creature just to be leaning directly beneath you and against the banisters you feel inclined to speak to him. Of course, you put no difficult questions to him; you treat him–he is so diminutive that you cannot help it–rather like a child. "Well, what's your name?" you say to him. "Odradek," he says. "And where do you live?" "Fixed abode," he says and laughs but it is only the kind of laughter that has no lungs behind it. It sounds rather like the rustling of fallen leaves. And that is usually the end of the conversation. Even these answers are not always forthcoming, often he stays for a long time silent, as wooden as his appearance: a bit myself, to no purpose, what is likely to happen to him? Can he possibly die? Anything that dies has had some kind of aim in life, some kind of activity which has worn out. But that is not the case with Odradek? Is it to suppose, then, that he will always be rolling down the stairs, with ends of thread trailing after him, right before the feet of my children and my children's children? He does no harm to anyone that one can see but the idea that he is likely to survive me I find almost painful.

2,3- Memories are a house

Memories Are a House
by Yeshurun
(Translated by Leon Wieseltier)

Stars by the power of their orbit are stars in the center of the sun.
But if they are not figures of orbit,
they are not in the sun.

Exactly like me by the power of my yearnings
I am in the family.
And if I will not yearn,
I am not in the family.

Memories are a house.
Time is a tool. All the time a roof. All the time time.
I would like sometime to die unto them and see them.

Benno Rothenberg related that when he saw some archaeology, he had a feeling of homeland. As if he were in his house.

I do not deny that a man who reaches a certain age can no longer hope that those from whom he came will remain still after him as his memory.

wrote to me in one of the letters of her sunlight from the tailings of her letters the feeling of nearness of those whom we they.
After all there's no chance of seeing you.

And prayer is a discarded and forgotten letter:
"Good night, Mother dear" I'd recite. Slumber has descended upon me.
I am prayer in the moment of sleep. Kitsch.

Los recuerdos son una casa

(translated by Mabino Dayen)

Las estrellas por el poder de su órbita son estrellas en el orden del sol.
Pero si no son figuras de órbita
no están en el sol.

Exactamente como yo por el poder de mis anhelos estoy en la familia.
Y si no anhelara,
no estoy en la familia.

Los recuerdos son una casa.
El tiempo es un techo. Todo el tiempo un techo. Todo el tiempo tiempo.
Me gustaría en algún momento morirme
en ellos y verlos.

Benno Rothenberg decía Que cuando veía arqueología tenía una sensación de patria. Como si estuviera en su casa.

Yo no niego que un hombre que alcanza cierta edad
no puede tener esperanzas de que de los que él era todavía permanezcan vivos con él, como mi madre una vez me escribió en una de las cartas de su ocaso. Del descolorimiento de sus cartas al destino del lector para cuando yo estuve.

Después de todo no hay posibilidad de verte.

Y una vez, en una carta descartada y olvidada:
"Buenas noches, Mamá" decía. El sopor descendió sobre mí...
Me arrojé al rezo del sueño. Kitsch

추억들은 하나의 집이다 – 아브트 예슈룬

(translated by Yechan Pi)

별들은 제각각 궤도의 힘에 의해
태양의 질서 속에 존재한다.
그러나 만약 그것이 궤도 형상 지니지 않으면
태양계에 존재하지 않는다.

정확하게 나처럼, 나는 나의 갈망의 힘에 의해
가족 속에 존재한다.
그리고 내가 갈망하지 않는다면
나는 가족 속에 존재하지 않는다.

추억들은 하나의 집이다.
시간은 지붕이다. 언제나 그렇다. 항상 언제나.
그 안에서 어느 때인가 죽어 보길 원한다.
그리고 그것들을 보고 싶다.

베노 로텐버그는 고고학을 접하게 되면서 느꼈다.
그리고 고향을 느꼈다. 집에 있었을 때처럼.

나는 저항하지 않을 만큼 나이를 먹은 남자를 보면서 더 이상 희망할 수 없다는 것을.
그리고 내가 살아있는 한 그것들이 나보다 오래 남아 있기를.

그리고 어느날 편지들 중 하나에 나에게 보낸 편지들의 일부를 써 그녀의 편지들이
사라지고있었어, 그러나 그것들이 사라질 수 있을때 나를 향한 기쁨이 있었던 종적.

그리고 어느날, 버려지고 잊혀진 편지 한 통: 잘자요, 엄마를 떠올려 보았다. 나를 압도했었어. 나는 잠자 기원에 불안정하고. 그런 일들이 일어나고 있었다. 편지속에서 우리에게 도착하지 않은 편지들 중의 하나였다. 버려진.

Les souvenirs sont une maison

(translated by Colette Rozenthuler)

Les étoiles, par le pouvoir de leur orbite, sont étoiles dans l'ordre du soleil.
Mais si elles ne sont pas figures d'orbite, elles ne sont pas dans le soleil.

Exactement comme moi : par le pouvoir de mes désirs
Je suis dans la famille.
Et si je ne désirais pas
Je ne suis pas dans la famille.

Les souvenirs sont une maison.
Le temps est un toit. Tout le temps un toit. Tout le temps du temps Parfois je voudrais mourir en eux et les voir.

Benno Rothenberg a raconté que quand il a vu des ruines archéologiques il a eu une sensation de patrie. Comme s'il était dans sa maison.

Je ne dénie pas qu'un homme qui atteint un certain âge ne peut jamais espérer que tous ceux dont il est venu restent toujours vivants avec lui, comme ma mère un jour me l'écrivit dans une des lettres de son crépuscule. Des décolorations de ses lettres au destin de l'homme : mais quand le pouvoir.

Après tout il n'y a pas de chance de te voir.

Et une fois, sur une lettre rejetée et oubliée :
« Bonne nuit, Maman » disais-je. Le sommeil est descendu sur moi.
Je suis prière dans les affres du sommeil. Kitsch Shayfeling gouvre. « Dit-elle dans une lettre que personne ne lit, que personne n'a lue.

4- SOUFFLES

לנשפים

לנשפים אני נוהרת נראה לי תמיהה
מיד א שקנה שיהיה הנע לפני יעבירה
כשאין היכל בחול הרוכל המוכס עוכר מס
שר אל־מיתי זה הלוחש נכנה לחשוף כל המסך

והנשלות באים מסך הנשמע שתי נפשי
שם אוויתי אני אוזני שר אל־מיתי זה לא נשפר

לנשפים אני נוהרת נראה לי תמיהה
"ערב" יותר מבוקיר כמו אתה יד בשתין
הדהמונות רוצני רוצני הן מלהטות את שיקוקתך
שר אל־מיתי זה לחשוף כנה אל מסך

והנשלות באים מסך הנשע מלוא הדבה
אותר בך הוא שם לנוח ושם הרוח גם אותו

נוחלים חלקי שר אל־מיתי

Lifamin by Etti Ankri

(translated by David Rosenmayer)

(and) Sometimes I remember of a sort of a whisper of a prayer and it is quiet and it stops just a moment before the closing.
When the palm of my foot in the sand steps and the touch is burning and hot.
what I wanted was to go just to walk all the time.

And the voices come from within me, they play that it is finished.
What I was I am not any more, what I am is not anymore protected.

And sometimes I remember and a hot fire comes up from you.
Closer than in your life, that's how you are for me in your death.
And the tears, the moments of grace, they caress your silence what I wanted was to go just to walk towards your secret.

And the voices come from within me and the 'ego' is full of riddle.
And afterwards he returns to rest, and with the wind so do you.

(and) Sometimes I remember of a sort of a whisper of a prayer and she is quiet and she stops just a moment before the falling.

A veces

(translated by Malena Dayen)

(a) A veces recuerdo una suerte de suspiro de un rezo que se calla y se detiene justo antes del final.
Cuando la planta de mi pie en la arena y el contacto es ardiente y cálido
lo que quería era ir, seguir caminando todo el tiempo.

Y las voces vienen de dentro de mi, cantan que ya terminó.
Lo que era ya no soy más, lo que soy ya no está protegido.

Y a veces recuerdo y un fuego intenso viene desde ti.
Más cercano que en tu vida, así eres para mí en tu muerte.
Y las lágrimas, los momentos de gracia, acarician tu silencio
Lo que quería era ir sólo caminar hacia tu secreto.

Y las voces vienen de dentro de mí, y el ego está lleno de misterio
Y luego regresa a descansar y con el viento también regresas tú.

(a) A veces recuerdo una suerte de suspiro de un rezo que se calla y se detiene justo antes de caer.

가끔 – 에틴 앙크리

(translated by Suchan Kim)

가끔 나는 기도의 속삭임 같은 것을 기억한다. 그것은 조용하고 끝나기전 잠시 멈춘다.
발바닥이 모래 위를 스치듯 걸을 때 그것은 뜨겁고 불을 지르는 느낌이다.
내가 원했던 것은 그저 계속 걷는 것이었다.

그리고 내 속에서 들려는 목소리들, 그들은 연주가 끝났다고 연주한다. 무엇보도 아니었던 나, 더이상 보호받지 못하는 나.

그리고 가끔 기억을 더듬게 되면, 너 거기로 불을 가져온다. 너의 삶보다 더 친밀하게, 그것이 너에겐 너의 죽음에서이다. 너의 눈물들도, 은혜의 시간들, 그들은 너의 기도 앞에 있었고, 그저 너의 비밀로 걸어가는 너의 침묵을 어루만진다.

그리고 내속에서 들려는 목소리들, 그 안엔 수수께끼로 가득찬자신, 그리고 그는 나중에 돌아 와서 돌아온다. 그리고 너도. 그렇게 바람과 함께.

가끔 나는 기도의 속삭임 같은 것을 기억한다. 그리는 조용하고 쉬려지기전 잠시 멈춘다.

Parfois

(translated by Loretto Ruccolo)

(a) Parfois je me souviens d'une sorte de murmure d'une prière qui est calme et qui s'arrête juste un moment avant la fin.
Quand la plante de mes pieds s'enfonce dans le sable et que le contact est brûlant et chaud
ce que je voulais était aller, juste marcher tout le temps.

Et les voix qui me viennent de l'intérieur, chantent que c'est fini.
Ce que j'étais je ne suis plus, ce que je suis n'est plus protégé.

Et parfois je me souviens et un feu ardent provient de toi.
Plus proche que dans ta vie, c'est ce que tu es pour moi dans ta mort.
Et les larmes, les moments de grâce, ils caressent ton silence ce que je voulais c'était juste partir, juste marcher jusqu'à ton secret.

Et les voix qui me viennent de l'intérieur et le « aucun – est plein d'énigme.
Et ensuite il revient se reposer et avec le temps tu reviens aussi.

(a) Parfois je me souviens d'une sorte de murmure d'une prière qui est calme et qui s'arrête juste un moment avant de tomber.

How can it be?

(translated by David Rosenmayer)

How can it be that I receive letters from the house And the house doesn't exist?
How can it be that I receive letters from the house And nobody lives there?

And the letter was not sent?
How can it be!
